Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 4-10 and 14-17 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims, 1-3 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Schwartz et al (“Schwartz”, US 2005/0039139).

Regarding claim 1, Schwartz discloses, in Figure 7, a device comprising a memory (704) and a processing unit (610) for displaying information on at least one screen, comprising:

first display means (702a) for displaying at least two display areas (400 and 500), such as a frame or a window, on the screen, second display means (702b) for displaying inside one of the display areas selectable information objects (402) about which further information (404) is available (see page 3, paragraphs [0043]-[0046] where the workstation objects and selection windows are discussed), selection means for selecting one of the selectable information objects (see page 5, paragraph [0058] where the selection window is discussed), choosing means for choosing a displayed display area and/or screen in which the further information relating to the selected information object will be displayed (see page 2, paragraph [0027] and page 4, paragraph [0054]).

Regarding claim 2, Schwartz discloses the further or background information can be retrieved from the memory by the selection means (see page 4, paragraph [0054]).

Regarding claim 3, Schwartz discloses at least one information object is displayed recognizably on the screen (see page 2, paragraph [0027]).

Regarding claim 11, Schwartz discloses, in Figure 7, a method for determining a second display area (500) for displaying further information (404) relating to an information object (402) by means of a device comprising a memory (704) and a processing unit (610) for displaying information on at least one screen (702), comprising steps for:

displaying at least two display areas (400 and 500), such as a frame or a window, on a screen, displaying inside one of the display areas selectable information objects (402) about which further information (404) is available, selecting an information object (402) in a first display area (400), displaying choosing means (see fig 9, #800; also see page 4, paragraph [0055] to page 6, paragraph [0056] where the selection window is discussed), choosing a display area and/or a screen in which the further information relating to the selectable information object will be displayed (see page 2, paragraph [0027] and page 4, paragraph [0054]), displaying the further information in the chosen display area (see page 2, paragraph [0027]).

Regarding claim 12, Schwartz discloses the step for displaying the choosing means comprises steps for displaying a context menu (see fig 9, #800).

Regarding claim 13, Schwartz discloses the steps for displaying choosing means or for displaying a context menu comprise steps for displaying selectable icons (see fig 4, "controls" 414, 416, 418).
